Will immunisations still work if my child doesn't get them at the right time?

Yes. Most of these vaccines can be given at any age, and a child who misses one injection in a course of injections does not have to start again. The vaccines already given will still work and your child will still develop protection. Just ask your GP (General Practitioner).

If you have any queries or concerns about vaccines please contact your GP or local health office (http://www.immunisation.ie/en/Downloads/Text_9491_en.html).
